CLEMSON VS. MARYLAND

Clemson Faces 4-1 Terrapins

Clemson will face a 4-1 Maryland team today in Death Valley. The Terrapins opened the season with a thrilling 17-14 victory over Navy, a game in which they made a great goal-line stand at the end of the contest. The Terrapins also have victories over Morgan State, Florida International, and Duke. Maryland's only loss was to a top-25 West Virginia team by a score of 31-17.

Maryland features an outstanding rushing attack that is led by Davin Meggett and Da'Rel Scott. Meggett, whose father played in the NFL, has 325 rushing yards and a 6.4-yards-per-carry figure, while Scott has a 5.1-yards-per-carry mark. Both players have scored three touchdowns so far this year.

Freshman Danny O'Brien is the quarterback of the Maryland offense. He has been the starter in each of the last two games and both contests ended in Terrapin wins. He has completed 51 percent of his passes, but he has a pass efficiency rating of 148.8 thanks to six touchdown passes against no interceptions. He quarterbacked Maryland to victory over Duke by throwing for 170 yards and a touchdown.

Maryland has one of the top all-purpose players in the ACC in Torrey Smith. He finished second to C.J. Spiller in all-purpose yards in the ACC last year and leads the ACC this year with 123.0 yards per game. He has 17 catches for 405 yards and five of the six Maryland touchdown catches.

Alex Wujciak is the leader of the Maryland defense with 57 tackles. He is 10th in the nation in tackles after finishing eighth nationally in that category last season. Wujciak comes from a football family. His father, Al, was a starting offensive lineman at Notre Dame in 1975 and played in the game against Georgia Tech that was the basis of the film "Rudy." In fact, the elder Wujciak is standing behind the real Rudy in a still photo at the end of the movie (wearing #66).

Adrian Moten is second on the team in tackles with 41, while Kenny Tate is third (39). Joe Vellano leads the team in tackles for loss (8.5) and sacks (5.0).

Interesting Punting Battle

One of the interesting matchups in Saturday's game between Clemson and Maryland will center on special teams. Maryland leads the nation in punt return average (27.7) and Clemson is seventh in the nation and first in the ACC in net punting. Something will have to give today.

Two individuals have a lot to do with the respective success of the special teams involved in today's game.

Maryland's Tony Logan leads the nation in punt returns (27.7), while Clemson punter Dawson Zimmerman has a 45.4-yard average, 12th-best in the nation. He has averaged at least 40 yards per punt in every game and has been over 47 yards per punt in three of the five games.

Tiger punt returner Marcus Gilchrist is 13th in the nation in punt returns with a 13.0-yard average. Maryland is 68th in the nation in net punting.

Tigers 2-3...Again

Clemson is off to a 2-3 start and has lost three consecutive games. Getting off to a rough start is nothing new for the Tigers. In fact, this is the fourth time in the last seven years Clemson has started 2-3. Each of the previous three times that has happened, Clemson has battled back to become bowl eligible.

The Tigers started with a 1-4 record in 2004, but won five of their last six games to finish with a 6-5 record. Clemson did not go to a bowl game that year. The next year, Clemson started 2-3 again, but it won six of its last seven games to finish with an 8-4 record. The Tigers' only loss that year over the last seven games was a 10-9 setback at Georgia Tech.

Tiger fans remember that Clemson also started 2-3 in 2009, then won six in a row to win the ACC Atlantic Division title for the first time. Clemson then lost in the ACC Championship game to Georgia Tech and beat Kentucky in the Music City Bowl.

Clemson has started 2-3 or worse then rebounded to become bowl eligible six times in the last 25 years. Clemson also accomplished the comeback feat in 1985, 1996, and 1999.

Junior Dawson Zimmerman is averaging 45.4 yards per punt, the nation's 12th-best figure.

Junior Da'Quan Bowers has totaled 11.5 tackles for loss and an ACC-high six sacks in 2010.

Overall, Clemson has started 2-3 or worse eight times in the last 25 years and come back to become bowl eligible six of those eight years. The only years Clemson failed to come back to be bowl eligible were 1994 and 1998.

In fact, each of the last two times Clemson has started 2-3, the Tigers have come back to win at least eight games and finish in the top 25 of the final AP poll.

October 15 an Important Date?

October 15 is an important date for NCAA college basketball coaches, as it is the opening day of practice. It also appears to be an important date for Clemson football.

For whatever the reason, over the last eight years, that has been a date to begin improvement during a season. In the last eight years, Clemson is 26-21 (.553) in games played before October 15 and 34-13 (.723) in regular-season games after October 15.

Over the last eight years, Clemson has shown improvement in its record in games played after October 15 six times and had the same record one year. Only one time in the last eight years (2006) has Clemson had a worse record in games played after October 15 relative to games prior to that date. That year, the Tigers were 6-1 in games before October 15 and finished 2-3 after that date.

Clemson obviously hopes that trend continues, as that October 15 date was the Friday before today's game against Maryland.

Allen Piling Up Receptions

Dwayne Allen has 18 receptions for 235 yards and a touchdown this year, as the sophomore tight end leads Clemson in receptions and receiving yards. He has five more receptions than any other Tiger.

If Allen finishes the year as Clemson's top receiver, he would be the first tight end to lead the Tigers in receptions since Bennie Cunningham in 1974. That year, Cunningham had 24 catches for 391 yards. Cunningham also led the Tigers in 1973 as a sophomore with 22 receptions for 341 yards.

Michael Palmer had a Clemson tight-end record 43 catches for 507 yards in 2009 and was second on the team in both categories. His reception and yardage total were school records for a tight end in a season, but neither figure led the team. Jacoby Ford led Clemson in receptions and yardage last year with 56 catches for 779 yards. Allen had 10 catches for 108 yards as a freshman in 2009.

Allen has had at least one catch in each game this year, including last week at North Carolina when he had seven receptions for 55 yards. That was his career high in terms of receptions. His other top game came at #15 Auburn on September 18 when he had five catches for 66 yards. Therefore, his top-two games have been on the road.

Bowers in National Top Five

Defensive end Da'Quan Bowers is in the top four in the nation in both sacks and tackles for loss in 2010. The native of Bamberg, SC has six sacks in five games, and his 1.2 sacks per game is tied for fourth in the nation. He has 2.30 tackles for loss per game, and that average is in the top three in the nation.

Bowers is a big reason Clemson is tied for second in the nation in tackles for loss per game and tied for 19th in sacks. Bowers has made quite a jump during his junior season. He came into the year with four career sacks and now has six this year alone. In terms of tackles for loss, he has 11.5 so far this season, already more than the 11 he had last year. And we are not even halfway through this season.

Bowers had four tackles for loss at #15 Auburn on September 18 and followed that up with 3.5 tackles for loss against #16 Miami (FL). He then had two sacks at North Carolina. Bowers is on pace to total 27 tackles for loss this season, a figure that would tie the school record by a Tiger defensive lineman. William Perry had 27 tackles for loss in 1984 and Rob Bodine also had 27 in 1991.

Hopkins Has Breakout Game

Freshman wide receiver DeAndre Hopkins had a breakout game at North Carolina on October 9. In his first career start and just his fifth career game, Hopkins had seven receptions for 46 yards. Four of the receptions gave Clemson a first down, including three that gave the Tigers a third-down conversion.

Hopkins' performance was the best by a Tiger freshman in terms of receptions since 2005, when Aaron Kelly had seven catches for 155 yards. Kelly's receiving yardage total is the Clemson single-game freshman record.

Hopkins' seven catches tied for fifth-most in a game by a Clemson freshman. The record is nine, held by Terry Smith against Maryland at Baltimore, MD in 1990, and by Derrick Hamilton, who had nine receptions against Virginia in 1990.

Hopkins also made a contribution on a punt return against North Carolina. He took a punt back 31 yards in the third quarter that set up a touchdown.

Freshman DeAndre Hopkins had seven catches and a 31-yard punt return that set up a touchdown at North Carolina last weekend.

I had to laugh when I read the wire-service story about the New England Patriots' victory over the Buffalo Bills in September. During the account of the game, it stated that Bills' rookie C.J. Spiller had scored a touchdown on a reception and on a 95-yard kickoff return, the first Bills' player to do that since December 19, 1965 when Charley Warner accomplished the feat against the New York Jets.

It had not taken long for Spiller to challenge the research staff of the Bills' media relations department. I had faced those challenges on an almost weekly basis the previous four years.

If I had one word to describe Spiller, it would be "unique." From a records standpoint, his accomplishments were unprecedented in terms of all-around performance. Off the field, he represented the Tiger football program and Clemson University in a way that made even the highest-ranking university officials proud.

As a result, Spiller will be honored today as just the third Clemson football player to have his number (#28) retired. He will join Banks McFadden (#66) and Steve Fuller (#4) as the only football players in school history with that distinction.

It is an honor that he will cherish for many reasons.

"This is a great honor, because there have been just two Clemson football players before me to have their number retired," said Spiller. "When you look at the careers of Banks McFadden and Steve Fuller and what they did for the Clemson football tradition, it is a great honor to be in that company. This will be a humbling experience."

Those who know Spiller already consider him to be humble. That is one of the reasons he will be remembered as perhaps the most respected Clemson athlete of his generation. It is that depth of character that was the biggest reason Head Coach Dabo Swinney recommended that his #28 never be worn again. No one coach or player associated with Clemson has a better understanding of Spiller's impact on Clemson.

"From the day he signed with Clemson, when he put that Clemson hat on at the press conference at his high school in Florida, with all those Florida and Florida State fans in the audience, he has made a difference at this university," said Swinney.

"When he signed with Clemson, he sent a message to other great players that Clemson is a great program, a program where you can succeed at the highest level. His accomplishments tell future recruits that you can come to Clemson, have a great career, compete for championships, graduate, and be a top NFL player. From that standpoint, C.J. will be an ambassador for Clemson University for a long time.

"When you retire a number, it has to be a no-brainer. That must have been the case with Banks McFadden and Steve Fuller years ago...just look at what they did. Retiring #28 was a no-brainer. Dr. (Terry Don) Phillips and I did not have a long meeting on the subject."

Spiller's no-brainer resumé is considerable. Over his career, he established 33 school records, including six ACC records. His career total of 7,588 all-purpose yards is nearly 25 percent more than the previous best in ACC history. He accumulated 2,680 of those yards as a senior in 2009, another league mark.

He scored 51 touchdowns in his career, most in school history and third-most in ACC history, but 21 of those 51 scores were of 50 yards or more. The ACC does not keep such marks, but it is 13 more than any other player in Tiger history. It is also more than former Heisman Trophy winners Tim Brown and Desmond Howard accumulated.

Many of those 21 touchdowns of 50 yards or more were dramatic, ESPN Play-of-the-Day clips that brought national attention to the Clemson program. You can go on YouTube.com and see them many times over.

It all started at Boston College in 2006 when Spiller took a swing pass from Will Proctor and criss-crossed the field 82 yards for a score. Ironically, his first NFL touchdowns also took place in the Boston area in his third NFL game against the New England Patriots.

Spiller took seven kickoff returns "to the house" during his Clemson career, including four as a senior. The seven career kickoff returns for scores is an NCAA-record total, and his eight total kick or punt returns for touchdowns tied an NCAA record.

At the conclusion of his senior year, Spiller was named MVP of the ACC, MVP of the ACC Championship game, and a unanimous first-team All-American. He was the first MVP of a conference championship game to play on the losing team and just the third unanimous first-team All-American in Tiger history.

He was named second-team All-American as a running back and first-team All-American as a kick returner on the Walter Camp Football Foundation team, the first player in history to be honored at two positions in the same year by that service, which dates to the early 1900s.

In December of 2009, the Lake Butler, FL native finished sixth in the Heisman Trophy voting. The only other top-10 Heisman candidate in Clemson history was Fuller, who also finished sixth in 1978. In April, Spiller was the #9 overall pick of the NFL draft by the Buffalo Bills.

Spiller had an outstanding career in a Tiger uniform in his first two-and-a-half years, but he really flourished once Swinney became the leader of the Clemson program in October of 2008. Swinney has had a positive effect on Spiller's career since he first recruited him in 2005.

"Coach Swinney has had a great influence on my career," said Spiller. "The first time I saw him, I said, 'Who in the world is this skinny guy trying to get me to leave the state of Florida?'"

"But we had a great relationship from day-one and it went beyond football. He is family to me, because he taught me so many lessons about life. You could see he would be that type of person from the early part of the recruiting process. You could tell he was honest and there was no sugar-coating of anything. That was something I was looking for."

While Spiller was serious about wanting to play in the NFL after his playing days were over in Tigertown, he was equally serious about earning his degree, which he achieved in just three-and-a-half years.

"It always meant a great deal for me to get my degree," said Spiller. "That had a lot to do with me coming back to Clemson for my senior year. It feels great right now to be in the NFL, knowing I have accomplished that part of my life."

Spiller gives credit to the staff at Vickery Hall, who works with the football players. That group is led by Academic Advisor Wayne Coffman. However, when asked about the people who helped him during his time at Clemson, the first person he mentioned was Academic Advisor Maria Herbst.

"I have to give a lot of credit to Maria Herbst," said Spiller. "I wanted to spend a lot of time working on my academics on Sundays, because that was our day off and I could give it my full concentration."

"She used to come in and help me most of the day on Sundays. She had her own family and didn't have to do that. I can't tell you how many Sundays she came to Vickery Hall to help me with a paper or prepare for a test."

"It was a motivation to me. If she was going to come in and help me on Sundays, I was going to get the work done. When you talk about the Clemson Family, that is a perfect example."

With Spiller, every task was seemingly accomplished in spectacular, record-breaking fashion. That included his graduation.

When Spiller crossed the stage on December 17, 2009 to receive his diploma, the Clemson Board of Trustees stood and applauded. It was done spontaneously and led to an even bigger ovation from his fellow students and the near-capacity crowd in Littlejohn Coliseum. It is something the Board of Trustees had done for a student just once before (for a student who had dealt with Cerebral Palsy a decade ago).

"That is a moment I will never forget," admitted Spiller. "I have a lot of pictures from football, but that is a picture I will show my kids one day."

"It made me think of something my grandmother once told me...C.J., you never know who is watching. You never know who you can effect in a positive manner, whose lives you can touch."

"That might be the best honor I had in my Clemson career. It told me the university, not just the football team or program, had respect for what I did and that they appreciated my character and how I represented the school."

Today, Clemson graduate C.J. Spiller follows the Tigers from afar in Buffalo, where he is off to a good start, ranking among the leaders in the NFL in kickoff returns. A recent trade of another player will make Spiller even more involved in the Bills' offense as the season progresses.

"I have been able to watch two Clemson games so far. It is tough watching on television, because you want to be out there. I text Andre (Ellington) and Jamie (Harper) all the time. They have bright futures. That is one thing I wanted to do last year...teach them all I could so they could carry on the tradition."

That tradition will carry on for many years to come. And at the top of the list will be the impact left on Clemson University by #28, C.J. Spiller.

#66 Banks McFadden

McFadden is one of the few athletes in college sports history to have two numbers retired in his honor, one in football (#66) and one in basketball (#23). Both numbers were retired at halftime of the Clemson vs. Georgia football game in 1987. McFadden was named the nation's Most Versatile Athlete in 1939 when he led the Clemson basketball team to the Southern Conference Tournament title in March, then took the Tiger football team to a 9-1 record in the fall and a Cotton Bowl victory over Boston College. He was named an All-American in both sports. The #4 selection of the NFL draft in 1940, McFadden played just one year in the NFL, then returned to Clemson for a long career as a basketball coach and football coach. He passed away in June of 2005.

#4 Steve Fuller

Fuller had his #4 retired during the 1979 Spring Game after his senior season. Fuller was the consummate student-athlete, as he was named a first-team Academic All-American in 1977 and 1978 and a third-team All-American on the field in 1978. He is the only two-time ACC Player-of-the-Year in Clemson history and finished sixth in the Heisman Trophy voting as a senior in 1978. He was also the recipient of an NCAA Top Five Award for his academic excellence and accomplishments on the field. He quarterbacked Clemson to an 11-1 record and a #6 national ranking in 1978, then was a first-round draft pick of the Kansas City Chiefs in April of 1979. He played nine years in the NFL and was a member of the 1985 Chicago Bears Super Bowl Championship team. He is now in the real-estate industry in Hilton Head, SC.

THE DREAM BACKFIELD

"Single-Wing to Perfection"

Clemson's "Dream Backfield" of 1950 seniors Jackie Calvert, Fred Cone, Dick Hendley, and Ray Mathews led the Tigers to a 9-0-1 record and an Orange Bowl victory over Miami (FL).

Head Coach Frank Howard knew he had a "Dream Backfield" on Saturday afternoon, September 30, 1950 in Columbia, MO when his underdog Clemson football team played near perfect ball in defeating Missouri by a score of 34-0.

Clemson had three 100-yard rushers in the dominating victory, as Jackie Calvert had 175, Ray Mathews totaled 120, and Fred Cone had 111. It was actually the second consecutive game that the Tigers had three 100-yard rushers, as the same trio had accomplished the feat the previous week against Presbyterian College. These were the first two games on record that Clemson had three 100-yard rushers.

However, this was not Presbyterian College, this was #17 Missouri. It was Clemson's highest-ranked win since the 1940 Cotton Bowl victory over #11 Boston College.

On the hour-long bus ride from Missouri's stadium to the Saint Louis airport, where Clemson's chartered plane was waiting to whisk his triumphant Tigers home via Anderson's airport, Howard made this observation to the only South Carolina reporter covering the game. "Brent, I believe we could have beaten any team in the country the way we played today."

I did not dispute his words, for I was equally in awe of what Howard's Tigers had just accomplished against a good Dan Fautot-coached team. Fautot, the father of the Split-T offense, had not fielded a team unable to score in years. He went on to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Clemson's "Nightmare Line" of 1949 had given way to defensive and offensive platoons that outscored their first three opponents by a combined score of 115-0 to open the 1950 season. A 41-0 rout of Auburn to end the regular season gave Clemson its fourth shutout. Including the narrow 15-14 Orange Bowl win over Miami (FL) on January 1, 1951, the once-called "Nightmare Lines" contributed mightily to a 9-0-1 team record that outscored its opposition 343-76, or by an average score of 34-8.

Only John Heisman's 1900 and 1901 Clemson teams, that averaged 37 and 38 points, respectively, in compiling 6-0 and 3-1-1 records, along with Tommy Bowden's 2000 team, that averaged 34.5 points per game with a 9-3 record and #16 AP ranking that sent Offensive Coordinator Rich Rodriguez on to head-coaching prominence at West Virginia and Michigan, proved more prolific in scoring.

In two other offensive statistical categories, Howard's "Dream Backfield" of 1950 averaged 6.2 yards per play, including 5.3 yards per carry. Only Bowden's 2006 team, with its "Thunder & Lightning" combination in the form of James Davis and C.J. Spiller, has surpassed these marks with 6.5 yards per play, including 5.7 yards per carry.

The remarkable fact about Clemson's "Dream Backfield" of 1950 (Jackie Calvert at tailback, Ray Mathews at wingback, Fred Cone at fullback, Dick Hendley at blocking back) is that it was a work in progress right up to the season-opener against the Blue Hose.

All four lettered in 1948, 1949, and 1950, with Hendley and Mathews also seeing enough action in 1946 and 1947, respectively, to earn their first varsity letters. Cone and Mathews were starters on the 1948 undefeated team alongside All-America tailback Bobby Gage and team captain and blocking back Bob Martin.

The 1949 team, without Gage and Martin, moved Calvert and Mathews around between tailback and wingback, while Hendley (the grandfather of 2009 U.S. Open Golf Champion Lucas Glover) shared the blocking-back post on occasion with Wyndie Wyndham, possibly Clemson's finest linebacker of all-time. Cone remained at fullback throughout. These "Dream" backs performed well on defense as well, though by 1950 it was rare they were summoned to do so.

Credit Offensive Backfield Coach Covington (Goat) McMillan with the resolve that enabled the four senior backs of 1950 to become Howard's "Dream Backfield." He had the four working out together whenever possible in the summer of 1950, perfecting the intricacies of the single-wing offense. His enthusiasm, familiarity with the single wing, and many successes at Clemson, both as player (1928-30) and coach (1937-42, 45-50), enabled him to win the respect of his backs.

McMillan and his end-coaching colleague, Bob Jones, both had the good fortune of learning their football from Jackie Calvert totaled 663 rushing yards and threw six touchdown passes in only 44 attempts in 1950.

Fred Cone led the 1950 Tigers with 92 points, 90 of which came on his 15 touchdowns.

Tiger Head Coach Josh Cody (1927-30) and his versatile staff that included NFL Hall of Famer Joe Guyon and future UCLA coaching great Red Sanders. Sanders later served as head coach of UCLA's 1954 National Championship team, the only Bruin team to win a national title on the gridiron.

The all-senior backfield made room for 1948 freshman sensation Billy Hair briefly in the first half of the 1950 season. Hair had been declared academically ineligible in 1949, but he worked with the senior backs on single-wing intricacies in the summer of 1950 while attending summer school. This paid off in the final five games of the season.

Following a disappointing 14-14 tie against South Carolina on "Big Thursday," Clemson faced #17 Wake Forest on the road. The Demon Deacons had trounced the Tigers 35-21 the year before at Clemson and seemed intent on duplicating their performance when they knocked both Mathews and Cone out of action in the first quarter with rib injuries.

Team leadership rose to the occasion, as subs Jim Shirley (fullback) and Frank Kennedy (wingback) made key plays. Calvert also filled in at wingback while Hair took his place at tailback. Calvert also played safety on defense at a critical moment of the game, which Clemson won 13-12.

For the remainder of the season, Calvert, in the midst of a record year at tailback, returned to wingback in place of the injured Mathews, while Hair, who had never worked at wingback, took over at tailback. His 525 yards on 71 carries, the most in the final five games of 1950, gave him a 7.4-yard season average that remains best in Tiger history. Even so, Calvert's 1950 stats of 663 yards on 105 carries for a 6.3-yard average is sixth-best in history. Mathews' 728 yards on 118 carries in 1949 for a 6.2-yard average is seventh-best.

In their careers at Clemson, Cone, Mathews, and Hair are among the top-25 running backs in history. Cone is fifth in touchdowns (31), Mathews' 5.7 yards per carry is tied for second, and Mathews is 10th in all-purpose yardage.

As for single-wing perfection in 1950, there was probably never a better display than in the first six minutes of the second half against Boston College, a team that had beaten the Tigers 40-27 in 1949.

Cone, back in action after his rib injury, returned the kickoff from the three to the 32. On the first play from scrimmage, Hair bootlegged the ball on a naked reverse 68 yards for a touchdown.

On the first play from scrimmage after Boston College had returned the kickoff to its own 30, tackle Bob Patton recovered an Eagle fumble. After a 10-yard loss by Calvert at wingback and an incomplete pass by Hair, the rookie tailback rushed for 17 yards on third down and passed for 18 more to Cone on fourth down. Hair then carried 11 yards for another first down and handed off twice to Cone for a second score.

A minute later, Boston College gambled and failed on a fourth-down play at midfield. Cone then bulled his way for 11 yards and a first down, aggravating his rib cage in the process. After backup fullback Marion Thompson gained five yards, Calvert passed the final 31 yards to end Bob Hudson for the third third-quarter touchdown.

Thirty seconds later, the hometown Eagles again fumbled on their first play from scrimmage. Guard Barclay Crawford recovered for Clemson on the Eagle 29. On the Tigers' first play, Calvert dropped back to pass, spotted an open Glenn Smith, and threw a strike to complete the "Dream Backfield's" remarkable six-minute exhibition. Clemson went on to a 35-14 victory.

Ironically, the play of the game, a second quarter 96-yard punt return by Calvert, who seemingly dodged every Boston College player at least once before being forced out on the Eagle two, was called back for a roughing-the-punter penalty called on Calvert's brother, Jim. It would be the longest punt return in school history to this day if it had stood.

Ray Mathews is brought down by Pete Mastellone after gaining yardage on an end run in the first quarter of the 1951 Orange Bowl against Miami (FL).

Eagle Head Coach Denny Myers accused Howard of running up the score on him in a television interview after the game. Boston College had scored the last 14 points of the contest and the "Dream Backfield" had been on the bench during most of the second half.

The Tigers finished the season with the 15-14 victory over Miami in the 1951 Orange Bowl. That game was won in thrilling fashion, as Sterling Smith tackled Frank Smith in the endzone for a safety with just over two minutes left, giving the Tigers the one-point victory.

Clemson finished with a 9-0-1 record, including two road wins over top-20 squads, the only team in Clemson history to accomplish that feat, and a #10 ranking in the final AP poll, the first top-10 final ranking in school history. It was Clemson's second undefeated season in three years, as the 1948 team had an 11-0 record.

While there were many talented players on those Tiger teams, the "Dream Backfield" stands out and might be the most productive backfield in school history when you take into account yards per play and victories.

The four seniors of the "Dream Backfield" along with the coaching staff (pictured) were big reasons the Tigers recorded their second undefeated season in three years in 1950.

JAMES F. BARKER

Clemson University President

Jim Barker has worn nearly every hat possible in his almost five decades as a member of the Clemson family – student, athlete, alumnus, teacher, dean, parent, fan, and president. Of these varied roles, the most important was as a student.

"I often tell people I learned everything from plumbing to poetry in architecture school, and I use every bit of that knowledge as president of Clemson University," Barker said.

A 1970 Clemson graduate, Barker was named president in 1999 with a mandate from the Board of Trustees to lead Clemson into the top ranks of American universities. At his inaugural address in April of 2000, he said, "I am convinced that there is no university in America stronger than Clemson when we are 'One Clemson.' A united Clemson is unstoppable."

During the "One Clemson" decade that followed, the university harnessed the competitive, determined spirit of the Clemson family to transform itself from a respected state institution into one of the nation's finest public universities.

Clemson climbed from #38 to #22 among public universities in the 2010 U.S. News & World Report guide to colleges and has been recognized for value, affordability, and return on investment by Kiplinger's and Smart Money magazine.

During the decade, undergraduate applications soared, Ph.D. enrollment doubled, research awards topped $1.25 billion, and more than 140 grants and contracts along with 60 gifts of $1 million or more were received. Despite severe cuts in its permanent, basic state appropriations, Clemson protected its academic core and competed successfully for the lion's share of the state's highest-achieving students, the Palmetto Fellows, and for tens of millions of dollars in state funding for endowed chairs and research infrastructure.

Clemson University attracts top students and faculty. Fifty percent of the 2009 freshman class graduated in the top-10 percent of their high school classes, and 31 Clemson faculty members received prestigious National Science Foundation Career awards during the previous decade.

The university provides an unmatched educational experience - intellectual development - for students and research-driven economic development for the state of South Carolina.

Barker is a leading voice in higher education for South Carolina and the nation. He served on the NCAA Division I Board of Directors for four years, including three as Chair. He also delivered a keynote address at a symposium in Washington, D.C. on Global Best Practices in Science & Technology Parks sponsored by the U.S. National Academy of Sciences.

For his leadership, Barker has received the Order of the Palmetto, the state of South Carolina's highest civilian honor, and The Cliff's Business Person-of-the-Year Award

2009-10 University Highlights

- A $45 million grant from the U.S. Department of Energy, the largest in Clemson history, to fund a wind-energy test facility at the Restoration Institute in North Charleston, SC. This project puts South Carolina at the center of a growing United States offshore wind-energy industry.
- Two national summits on clean energy and creating jobs in the green economy, sponsored by the Restoration Institute. They were held in Greenville, SC at CU-ICAR (Clemson University International Center for Automotive Research).
- Second-place finish (behind Brown) by Clemson undergraduate students in the national College Quiz Bowl.
- The awarding of Clemson's first Ph.D. in automotive engineering. New partners at CU-ICAR include electric bus manufacturer Proterra and Sage Automotive, a high-performance fabric manufacturer that was formerly Milliken's automotive fabric division.
- The opening of Clemson at the Falls in downtown Greenville, SC, which will house Clemson's MBA and other programs of the College of Business & Behavioral Science to support South Carolina business with education for professionals, executives, and entrepreneurs.
- Groundbreaking on campus for the restoration, renovation, and expansion of Lee Hall along with dedication of the expansion of Rhodes Hall.
- Announcement that construction will resume this year on the Academic Success Center and the Life Sciences building, two projects delayed by the 2009 budget crisis.

from Greenville Magazine. He has also been awarded honorary doctorates from the Medical University of South Carolina, South Carolina State University, and Mars Hill College.

A native of Kingsport, TN, Barker received his bachelor of arts degree from Clemson in 1970 and his master of architecture & urban design degree in 1973 from Washington University in Saint Louis, MO, which also recognized him with its Distinguished Alumnus Award. He is a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects and the Institute for Urban Design.

As Clemson's President, Barker remains committed to the classroom. Each spring, he is part of a team that teaches an undergraduate course exploring "a sense of place" in architecture, literature, and history.

In his spare time, what there is of it, Barker runs and maintains the daily fitness regimen of a life-long athlete. He is widely acclaimed for his pen-and-ink drawings of campus buildings and has recently taken up watercolor painting.

Barker and his wife Marcia have two sons, Britt and Jacob, a daughter-in-law Rita Bolt Barker, and one grandchild.

DR. TERRY DON PHILLIPS

Clemson University Athletic Director

When Clemson's baseball team reached the Final Four of the 2010 College World Series, it concluded one of the great all-around sports years in school history. In addition to a #4 final ranking in baseball, the Tigers ranked in the top 25 in the nation in football after a bowl victory over Kentucky and won the ACC Atlantic Division title for the first time. The men's basketball team recorded a fourth straight 20-win season, including a win over national finalist Butler, and reached the NCAA Tournament for a record-tying third straight year.

Clemson was one of just eight schools nationally to go to a bowl game, the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, and the NCAA Baseball Tournament. It was the second straight year the Tigers accomplished the "high-profile sports triple." Clemson joined Florida State, Minnesota, and Texas as the only four schools to do it in consecutive years.

Reaching a high level of success in the high-profile sports is a credit to the administrative acumen of Clemson Athletic Director Dr. Terry Don Phillips. Now in his ninth year leading the Clemson program, Phillips has enhanced the Tiger program on many levels.

In addition to the success of the high-profile sports in 2009-10, the Clemson women's track & field program won the ACC Championship both indoor and outdoor, a first for the program, and finished in the top 20 in the nation at both national meets. The rowing program had its second consecutive top-15 finish and the women's volleyball team made its third consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. Overall, seven different teams finished in the top 25 in the nation.

In his eight years at Clemson, the program has had 46 teams finish the season in the top 25. Five different women's sports have captured ACC titles during his tenure. Only Virginia has had a wider variety of women's sports win league titles.

One of the reasons for Clemson's level of success as a total sports program has been his emphasis on improving facilities. On June 30, 2009, Clemson's football staff moved into the WestZone at Memorial Stadium. It was a day that brought a smile to everyone associated with the program, but especially Phillips, who had been working toward that day before he arrived on campus in 2002.

Phillips' vision for the WestZone was to create a top-of-the-line facility for the football program, but at the same time have a positive effect on the total sports program. The facility at Memorial Stadium now creates more office space, new locker rooms, and training room and strength training facilities for the Olympic sports programs.

Clemson recently completed a new boathouse for the rowing program, one of the top facilities in the nation, added the new multi-million-dollar Thomas F. Chapman Grandstands at Doug Kingsmore Stadium, and a new clubhouse area at the Hoke Sloan Tennis Facility. Other improvements in the last three years have included a new practice facility for the golf program, and a new press box at the Riggs Field soccer stadium. Plans are in the works for the construction of the Larry B. Penley, Jr. Golf Facility, a new baseball locker room, and a significant enhancement to Riggs Field.

Academically, 17 of the 19 programs were above the national average for public institutions in terms of APR scores. In the 2010 spring semester, over 50 percent of Clemson's student-athletes were on the academic honor roll and seven of the 15 programs had team GPAs of at least 3.0. The overall GPA was 2.92 for the semester, third-highest on record.

Phillips has been recognized for these accomplishments in recent years. He was named as one of the top-100 Most Influential Sports Educators in America in 2008, a selection made by The Institute for International Sport at the University of Rhode Island. The institute's objective involved a four-year process and resulted in a list that spans scholars, Olympians, coaches, and other industry leaders "who have creatively and effectively used sport in the very best way as a means to educate and shape positive values."

Phillips' athletic career and academic pursuits epitomize that desire. Believed to be the only Division I athletic director with both a doctorate and law degree, he uniquely blends the discipline and inspiration created on each side of campus. He has firmly put his imprint on the University and Tiger athletics by creating a balanced, positive environment for success that emphasizes academic integrity, student-athlete welfare, and competing at the highest levels with unequivocal NCAA compliance.

Phillips was also recognized nationally for his performance at Clemson in June of 2006 when he was honored by NACDA (National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics) as the 2005-06 GeneralSports Turf Systems Athletic Director-of-the-Year for the Southeast Region of the FBS. He was one of just four FBS athletic directors honored at the annual convention in New Orleans, LA.

Excellence in academics has been a lifelong pursuit. He has an undergraduate degree from Arkansas (1970), a master's degree from Virginia Tech (1974), a doctorate degree from Virginia Tech (1978), and a law degree from the University of Arkansas School of Law (1996). He is a member of the Arkansas Bar, South Carolina Bar, American Bar Association, and Sports Lawyers Association.

Phillips maintains a classroom presence by teaching a sports law section in Clemson's accountancy & legal studies department. In addition, he is past chair of the NCAA Division I Infractions Appeals Committee and continues to serve the committee as requested.

Prior to coming to Clemson, Phillips served as athletic director at Oklahoma State. Football was transformed from a perennial losing status to very competitive, enjoying a return to bowl games after several years and establishing a winning record against in-state rival Oklahoma. For this, he received the National Football Foundation Oklahoma Chapter Outstanding Contribution to Amateur Football Award in 2002.

Additionally in 2006, he was named one of the top-25 most influential people in the history of Oklahoma

State athletics by GoPokes Magazine. This recognition reflected the substantial success of the all-sports program and the momentous facility development under his leadership.

Before leading Oklahoma State, he served as senior associate athletic director at Arkansas from 1988-94. He also served as athletic director at Liberty (1980-81) and Louisiana-Lafayette (1983-88). He was an assistant athletic director at Missouri (1981-83) and began his administrative career in 1979 as an assistant athletic director at Florida.

Phillips began his career in college athletics coaching football. He started as a graduate assistant at Arkansas in 1970 and 1971. He moved on to Virginia Tech as an assistant coach (1971-78) before joining the ranks of athletic administration. At Virginia Tech, he served on coaching staffs that included future Clemson Head Coaches Charley Pell and Danny Ford.

Winning has been on Phillips' resumé since his playing days at Arkansas. He lettered on three Frank Broyles teams, where he and his brother Loyd, an Outland Trophy winner, were starting defensive tackles, the first brother combination to start together under Broyles. Arkansas had a 27-5 record in the three years, played in two Sugar Bowl games, and he played in the memorable 1969 National Championship game against Texas, a contest that continues to be featured on ESPN Classic.

In June of 2010, it was announced that Phillips would be inducted this fall into the University of Arkansas Hall of Honor.

Phillips has two children, John Dennis and Sarah-Jane, and three stepchildren, Meagan, a senior at Clemson and proud member of Tiger Band, Marshall, and Madison. His wife Tricia is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism and earlier enjoyed a career in athletics and development. She is now active in the Clemson and Seneca communities.

DABO SWINNEY

Head Coach

At age 40, Dabo Swinney is the youngest head coach in the ACC and one of the youngest in the country, but he handled his first full season as Clemson's head coach like an old veteran. In 2009, he led the Tigers to their first championship of the ACC's Atlantic Division. The Tigers came just six points short of winning their first ACC title in 18 years. Swinney was named ACC Coach-of-the-Year by Sporting News and was a finalist for the Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year award.

Swinney accumulated nine wins, second-most among all FBS coaches in their first full year behind Oregon's Chip Kelly. The nine wins tied for fourth-most in ACC history for a first-year head coach. He also led the Tigers to their first bowl win since 2005 in the 21-13 victory over Kentucky in the Music City Bowl.

The Tigers reached the nine-win mark playing a schedule that included four games against top-15 opponents, just the second year in school history (1999 was the other) that Clemson played four games against teams ranked in the top 15 of the AP poll. Clemson was 1-3 in those games, but the three losses were by a combined 12 points (three points to Georgia Tech, four points to TCU, and five points to Georgia Tech in the ACC Championship game). The Tigers' three FBS non-conference opponents had a combined record of 29-10 in 2009. Clemson gave TCU one of its stiffest tests in a 14-10 Horned Frog victory on September 26.

Swinney's first season included a six-game winning streak at midseason, a streak that saw the Tigers score at least 34 points in every game, a first in school history. During that stretch, the Tigers beat #8 Miami (FL) on the road. The 40-37 overtime victory tied for the highest-ranked team Clemson has defeated on the road in school history.

That was the second of six straight wins, the longest winning streak for the Clemson program in four years. The streak also included a 40-24 nationally-televised win over Florida State and Bobby Bowden, the Hall of Fame coach who is second in victories in FBS history. The winning streak brought Clemson to a #15 national ranking in the AP poll after the ACC Atlantic Division clinching victory over Virginia on November 21.

The Tigers had success on offense, defense, and special teams during the 2009 season. The Tigers were 28th in the nation and third in the ACC in scoring offense (31.1), while the defense was 20th in total defense (314.3) and seventh in pass defense (162.8). Clemson finished in a tie for fifth in the country in interceptions (21) as well.

The main reason Clemson was so outstanding on special teams was the play of college football's most dynamic player, C.J. Spiller. The Tiger running back was named MVP of the ACC in 2009 and was a consensus first-team All-American. He had five kick returns for touchdowns during the 2009 season, an all-time Clemson record, and established the NCAA record for kickoff returns for touchdowns in a career with seven. He was also the only FBS player to score at least one touchdown in every game in 2009.

Overall, the Tigers held down three positions on the All-ACC First-Team and five spots on the second team. Only Virginia Tech had more representatives.

Swinney became Clemson's interim head coach on October 13, 2008 when Tommy Bowden stepped down after guiding the program for nearly 10 seasons. Then on December 1, 2008, the "interim" tag was removed, as he took over on a full-time basis as the Tigers' 25th head coach. He had been the assistant head coach for two years and had been in charge of the wideouts since 2003.

Swinney, who had never been a head coach prior to the 2008 season, led Clemson to a 4-3 record to close 2008. That mark included four victories in the last five regular-season games, with the only loss at #24 Florida State. That 4-1 record to end the regular season tied for the best mark in the ACC for that time period. Four of his six regular-season opponents were later bowl participants. His 4-3 record included a 2-1 road record, wins over Boston College and Virginia.

Swinney's first victory as a head coach took place in his first-ever road game at Boston College on November 1. Despite committing four turnovers and trailing in the fourth quarter, his troops rallied for a 27-21 win, giving Clemson its first win over the Eagles since 1958. It also came against the eventual ACC Atlantic Division winner.

The Tigers suffered a 41-27 defeat at #24 Florida State a week later, but they rebounded to trounce Duke 31-7 at Memorial Stadium by outgaining the Blue Devils 466-168 under Swinney, who also served as offensive coordinator during the second half of 2008. Clemson showed its road prowess the following weekend by claiming a 13-3 victory at Virginia and veteran Head Coach Al Groh.

Rival South Carolina awaited for the final regular-season game. Against one of the SEC's best defenses, the Tigers used a balanced attack (184 rushing yards, 199 passing yards) to top the Gamecocks 31-14 at Memorial Stadium. Clemson also had four interceptions against Steve Spurrier's offense and held it to just 22-47 passing for 212 yards. The following week, the Tigers accepted an invitation to play in the Gator Bowl against Nebraska.

The 1993 Alabama graduate joined the Clemson staff prior to the 2003 season. In his seven years, the Tigers have finished in the top 25 of the final polls four times and totaled 10 wins over top-25 teams, including victories over Florida State (4), Miami (FL) (2), and Tennessee (1), during his tenure in Tigertown.

Swinney coached his wide receiver position to a level of consistency that had not been seen previously at Clemson. He had a wideout finish first or second in the ACC in catches five of the last six years. In his first year, he had three of the top-10 receivers in the ACC, a first in Tiger history. He has coached a First or Second-Team All-ACC wideout every year since 2003 (Derrick Hamilton, Aiyse Currie, Chansi Stuckey, Aaron Kelly, Jacoby Ford), also an unprecedented feat at Clemson.

HOWARD'S

In 2004 and 2005, he coached the ACC reception champion (Currie (2004), Stuckey (2005)). It was the first time Clemson had two different players lead the ACC in receptions in consecutive years. In 2007, Kelly led the ACC in yards, giving Swinney an ACC receiving king three out of four years. Stuckey earned First-Team All-ACC honors in back-to-back years, a first for a Tiger wideout in 25 years.

The play of Swinney's wide receivers was a big reason Clemson led the ACC in total offense, rushing offense, and scoring offense during the 2006 season, just the second time an ACC team led the conference in all three categories during the previous 25 seasons. The Tigers also led the league and set school records for yards per play (6.5) and touchdowns (55).

In 2007, Swinney coached Kelly, a First-Team All-ACC selection who led the league in receiving yards per game and touchdown catches (11). He also finished second in receptions per game with a school-record 88 catches, tied for the second-highest total in ACC history. His 11 touchdown catches were a Tiger record as well.

Kelly is Clemson's and the ACC's career reception leader with 232 catches. He also owns the school touchdown reception record with 20. The previous record of 18 was held by Glenn Smith, who established the record in the 1951 season.

The Alabama native has a reputation as one of the top recruiters in the nation. In 2006, he was listed as the #5 recruiter in the nation by Rivals.com. It marked the second straight year that he was lauded by the website as a top-25 national recruiter. He signed 38 players in his five recruiting seasons and was a major reason Clemson's 2008 recruiting class was rated #2 in the nation by ESPN.com when he signed 11 players. He was named one of the top-25 recruiters in the nation by Rivals.com in 2007 as well.

When he accepted the interim head coaching position on October 13, 2008, he described his feelings as "bittersweet" because he was taking over for Bowden, who had been his first position coach at Alabama in 1989. He had also brought Swinney back to the coaching profession in 2003 and has had a profound effect on his life. Both had followed similar paths as players, as Bowden was a walk-on at West Virginia and Swinney was a walk-on at Alabama.

Swinney received a commerce & business administration degree from Alabama in 1993 after lettering three times (1990-92). A walk-on who went on to earn a scholarship, Swinney was a wide receiver on Alabama's 1992 National Championship team. He was also named Academic All-SEC along with being an SEC Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll member in 1990 and 1992.

Along with his appearance in the 1993 Sugar Bowl, his Alabama teams played in the 1990 Sugar Bowl, 1991 Fiesta Bowl, and 1991 Blockbuster Bowl. Both Sugar Bowl appearances came after winning the SEC title game.

After his playing career, Swinney served as a graduate assistant from 1993-95 at Alabama, where he coached in the 1994 Gator Bowl and 1995 Citrus Bowl. In December of 1995, he received a master's degree in business administration from Alabama.

He became a full-time assistant coach at Alabama in February of 1996 under Head Coach Gene Stallings and coached a total of five seasons there on a full-time basis. He was assigned to coach the Crimson Tide's wide receivers and tight ends in 1996, a season that saw Alabama win the SEC Western Division title and make an Outback Bowl appearance. The following year, he solely coached the tight ends under Head Coach Mike DuBose.

In 1998, he coached Alabama's wide receivers, a position he held for three seasons. At the end of the 1999 campaign, Swinney coached the Crimson Tide in the 2000 Orange Bowl after winning the SEC Championship game. Wide receiver Freddie Milons was the game MVP.

At Alabama, Swinney was a part of six teams with at least 10 wins, five top-10 finishes, one national title (1992), three SEC titles (1989,92,99), and five SEC Western Division titles (1992,93,94,96,99) as a player and coach. He has coached the #2 receiver at Alabama (Milons) along with the #1 (Kelly) and #2 (Hamilton) receivers in Tiger history.

Since 1997, he has had 20 former players either drafted or sign free-agent contracts with NFL teams. The list includes Hamilton, Currie, Kevin Youngblood, Stuckey, and Milons, an All-American at Alabama.

From April of 2001 through February of 2003, Swinney was in private business in Alabama. He married the former Kathleen Bassett in 1994. They have three sons, Will (12), Drew (10), and Clay (7).

Football Support Staff

Woody McCorvey

Associate Athletic Director
Football Administration

- 9th Season at Clemson
- Alabama State '72
- Born September 30, 1950

Woody McCorvey returned to Clemson after 20 years to become Associate Athletic Director for Football Administration on Dabo Swinney's first staff. McCorvey was Swinney's position coach during his playing days at Alabama and served as a wide receivers and tight ends coach on Danny Ford's Tiger staff from 1983-89.

McCorvey serves as the primary liaison between Swinney and the athletic and IPTAY administration. He also oversees the management of the football administrative offices.

His return had a positive effect on the program in 2009 when Clemson won the Atlantic Division of the ACC for the first time and finished the season in the top 25 of the AP poll.

McCorvey supervises the football budget and works with the staff at Vickery Hall to oversee the team's academic progress. He also makes speaking engagements and represents the football staff at various meetings and functions.

McCorvey worked seven years at Clemson from 1983-89. With McCorvey coaching the tight ends from 1983-85 and the wideouts from 1986-89, Clemson posted a 60-19-3 record and won three ACC titles. During that time, the Tigers were invited to the 1985 Independence Bowl, the 1986 and 1989 Gator Bowls, and the 1988 and 1989 Citrus Bowls. Clemson posted a 10-2 record in each of his last three seasons under Ford. Among the student-athletes he recruited were future Pro Bowlers Donnell Woolford and Chester McGlockton. He also coached future NFL players Keith Jennings and K.D. Dunn.

McCorvey coached at the Division I level for 26 years and went to a bowl game 17 of those seasons. Overall, he had 36 years of experience as a football coach. He coached or signed 36 players who went on to a professional football career as well.

From 1990-08, he coached in the SEC every year, including each of the last five at Mississippi State, where he served as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator in addition to coaching the quarterbacks. He was a big reason the Bulldogs won eight games, including wins over Auburn, Alabama, and Mississippi, in 2007.

McCorvey coached at Tennessee for five years (1999-03). With him heading the running game, the Volunteers had a 46-14 record. He helped guide Tennessee to the 2000 Fiesta Bowl, 2001 Cotton Bowl, 2002 Citrus Bowl, and 2002 and 2003 Peach Bowls. Tennessee also won three consecutive New Year's Day Bowl games (2000-02).

Under McCorvey's leadership, Tennessee maintained the school's reputation of having an outstanding rushing attack. The Volunteers led the SEC in rushing in 1999, averaging 191.3 yards per game. His work helped tailback Travis Stephens pace the SEC in rushing yards (1,464) in 2001. One year prior, McCorvey helped tailback Travis Henry finish second in the league and 14th in the nation in rushing yards (1,314). Another of his protégés was Jamal Lewis, who finished in the top five on the Tennessee career rushing list and was the #5 overall pick of the 2000 NFL draft.

Prior to joining the staff at Tennessee, McCorvey worked one season at South Carolina, where he served as the wide receivers coach in 1998 under current Tiger Associate Head Coach Brad Scott.

McCorvey took the South Carolina job following an eight-year stay at Alabama from 1990-97. He served seven seasons as its wide receivers coach and the 1996 campaign as offensive coordinator. He was the assistant head coach in 1997 as well.

Alabama had five top-25 final rankings in his tenure, including three seasons in the top five. The Crimson Tide won the 1992 national title with McCorvey serving as wide receivers coach and Swinney as one of his student-athletes. That season culminated with a 34-13 win over heavily-favored Miami (FL) in the Sugar Bowl. Current Clemson Assistant Coach Danny Pearman was also on that staff.

From 1990-96, Alabama had a 70-16-1 record and played in six bowl games. With him at the controls of the offense in 1996, Alabama was 10-3, including a win over Michigan in the Outback Bowl.

From 1979-82, he served as an assistant coach at Alabama A&M and helped that program to the #6 rushing offense in Division II in 1981 after finishing 11th in the nation in scoring offense the previous year. McCorvey began his collegiate coaching career at North Carolina Central in 1978.

McCorvey began his coaching career with a six-year stint (1972-77) at J.M. Tate Senior High School in Florida. A quarterback at Alabama State from 1968-71, he earned his bachelor's degree from Alabama State in 1972 and a master's degree from West Florida in 1977.

In November of 2010, McCorvey will be inducted into the Atmore, AL Hall of Fame. The Atmore, AL native is married to the former Ann Brown. The couple has a son, Marlon.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

"Death Valley"

Clemson's Memorial Stadium has been held in high esteem for many years. Whether it be players from the 1940s and 1950s, opposing players from the 1970s and 1980s, or even professional players in the 1990s, the ambiance of this special setting is what college football is all about.

The storied edifice added to its legend when the first meeting of father and son head coaches (Bowden Bowl I) took place before a sellout crowd of more than 86,000 fans in 1999. Clemson has been in the top 20 in the nation in attendance 29 straight seasons. A crowd has exceeded 80,000 fans 55 times since the 1983 season. In 2009, Clemson was 17th in the nation in average home attendance.

The facility's mystique is derived from its many traditions, which date to its opening in 1942, the legendary games and players, and Clemson's corresponding rate of success. Clemson has won 251 games in 68 years there and has won over 71 percent of the contests (251-97-7).

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers, but it was constructed against the advice of at least one coach. Just before Head Coach Jess Neely left for Rice after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message.

"Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the YMCA. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place took some clearing, as there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work, clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally on September 19, 1942, Memorial Stadium opened with Clemson defeating Presbyterian College 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 1940s, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The construction of Memorial Stadium did not proceed without problems. One afternoon during the clearing of the land, a young player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then proceeded to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, the boy was swollen twice his size and was hospitalized.

There are many other stories about the stadium, including one that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner as the concrete poured.

Howard said that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he said. "After three weeks on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far and I would give them three more weeks' pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that, it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard said that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added, and in 1960, 5,658 west endzone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large east endzone ("Green Grass" section), this expansion increased capacity to 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled - the first in 1978 and the second in 1983. It increased capacity to over 80,000, which makes it one of the nation's largest on-campus stadiums. In 2006, the West Zone was added, an area that contains locker rooms and a luxury club level that holds 1,000 seats.

The effect that inflation has had can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of Memorial Stadium was built at a cost of only $125,000, or $6.25 per seat. The stadium's newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 per seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged by the late Presbyterian College Coach Lonnie McMillan in the late 1940s. After bringing his teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, he said the place was like "Death Valley." A few years later, the name stuck.

"Running down the Hill is still talked about everywhere I go. Players who played against Clemson when I was in college remember us running down the Hill and thinking we would gain some type of spirit. The adrenaline rush was unbelievable for a Clemson player and quite a shock for the opponent."

Former Clemson All-American Jerry Butler

"I came here knowing it would be loud and Clemson would hit hard, but the noise was the biggest factor. I didn't concentrate as well because of it."

Herschel Walker after Clemson's 13-3 win in 1981, his only regular-season loss

"The Rock has strange powers. When you rub it and run down the Hill, the adrenaline flows. It's the most emotional experience I've ever had."

Six-time All-Pro and Tiger All-American Michael Dean Perry

"When Clemson players rub that Rock and run down the Hill, it's the most exciting 25 seconds in college football."

Brent Musburger, ABC Sports

"There is no place louder or more picturesque than Death Valley. There, where Clemson folks see magic in a hill and a rock, orange gets more respect than anywhere this side of Gainesville, Florida."

Terence Moore, Atlanta Journal-Constitution

"When you get to the bottom of the Hill, it's like you're in a hole and all around you are nothing but Clemson fans. It's like the crowd is one big voice. You feel like little kings."

Former Clemson running back Rodney Blunt

"Death Valley really lives up to its image. I was impressed with this stadium. When you put 80,000 people in there, it feels like they are on top of you. I'd hate to be whoever comes here to play Clemson."

San Francisco quarterback Steve Young

"Florida was loud in the swamp. But the loudest, not only stadium, but the loudest place I have ever been around in my life was definitely Death Valley. I was yelling at the top of my lungs and I couldn't even hear what I was saying. That place was unreal in how loud it was. I don't think I will ever be in a louder place than Clemson."

Florida State quarterback Chris Rix, 2001

"I'm very thankful that we're playing a day game at Clemson. The last time we were up there, it was extremely loud. I yelled the calls to my guard, but we couldn't hear each other and we couldn't hear each other in the huddle. When you have fans that can get that loud and distract offenses like that, that's as important as having an All-American on your defense."

Florida State center David Castillo, 2005

"In 2005, Clemson's Memorial Stadium, commonly known as Death Valley, reached an astounding 126 decibels when a packed crowd of 79,135 fans observed Charles Bennett's sack of Kyle Wright during the Tigers' three-overtime heartbreaker against Miami (FL). This level easily surpassed the old record of 121 decibels set by Louisiana State fans in Tiger Stadium, which holds 92,400 fans."

RealFootball365.com

"The game when I was a sophomore (in 2005) stands out for me. What an awesome place that is to play. I'll never forget that atmosphere, and I know for a fact I've never seen so much orange in one place at one time. If you've never been there, going out on the field for the first time at Clemson is incredible."

Boston College quarterback Matt Ryan, 2007

"We go to a lot of great venues for college football, but this place doesn't take a back seat to any place. In terms of the atmosphere, stadium, the noise, and the facilities, this is a special place on a Saturday night."

ESPN commentator Todd Blackledge, 2009

"When you go down there, there are a couple of things you know. It's going to be loud. It's going to be challenging and it's going to be fun. It's a great atmosphere. There is real football fever and it is not just a Saturday afternoon activity. There is a real passion and real fever for Clemson football. I've always enjoyed going there because it is challenging."

Virginia Head Coach Al Groh, 2009

In 1974, the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to Clemson University.

Luckily, it wasn't built behind the YMCA.

RUNNING DOWN THE HILL

"The Most Exciting 25 Seconds in College Football"

What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football" from a color and pageantry standpoint actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season, less than a year after Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was drawn into World War II.

The shortest entry into Memorial Stadium was a short walk down Williamson Road from Fike Fieldhouse's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the Hill, which is located behind the east endzone. There were no dressing facilities inside the west endzone of Memorial Stadium...there was only a giant clock, where the hands turned, and a scoreboard that was operated manually by hand.

The team would dress at Fike Fieldhouse, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the scoreboard now stands, and jog down the Hill for its warmup exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no Tiger Paw flag, no "Tiger Rag" played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side-straddle hop. That is pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA and picked up a white flint rock. He presented it to Head Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, California to Death Valley, South Carolina.

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike Fieldhouse for years. One day, he was cleaning up his office and

The Rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the Hill on the east side of the stadium. It was unveiled September 24, 1966 when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes left and came back to win 40-35 on a 65-yard pass from Jimmy Addison to Jack Jackson in the fourth quarter. That was quite a debut for the Rock.

The team members started rubbing the Rock prior to running down the Hill on September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson de-told Gene Willimon, who was executive secretary of IPTAY, to "take this rock and throw it over the fence or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office!"

Willimon did not think that was the way a rock should be treated. After all, it had been brought 2,200 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-1960s, Memorial Stadium was living up to its moniker ("Death Valley") because of the number of Tiger wins that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by Lonnie McMillan, head coach at Presbyterian College during the 1940s.

McMillan and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open each season by playing at Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shutouts in 39 games) and with only three victories and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting "killed" by the Tigers regularly. In 1948, McMillan made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in "Death Valley."

An occasional reference to Memorial Stadium by that name could be heard for the next four years, but when Howard started calling it "Death Valley" in the 1950s, the name took off like wildfire. Clemson celebrated its 68th year in the "Valley" in 2009.

But getting back to Howard's Rock.

feated Wake Forest by a score of 23-6.

Prior to running down the Hill that day, Howard told his players, "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that Rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it."

Howard told of the incident during the following day on his television show, and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach prior to the 1970 campaign, Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west endzone. In all home games during the 1970 and 1971 seasons and the first four games of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the Hill, their combined record was 6-9.

The team decided it wanted to come down the Hill once prior to the South Carolina contest during the 1972 season. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt, which preserved the narrow win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above (340 times entering the 2010 season).

After final warmups, the team gathers back in its dressing room under the west endzone stands for its final game instructions. Approximately 10 minutes prior to kickoff, the team boards three buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east endzone, and disembarks to the top of the Hill behind Howard's Rock.

At the appointed time, the cannon booms, and led by a giant Tiger Paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up "Tiger Rag"...the frenzy starts in all sincerity and usually lasts for three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

WestZone

The everyday activities for the football program moved to Memorial Stadium on July 1, 2009. Tiger coaches moved into new offices in the WestZone of Memorial Stadium that day. A month later, the team made the locker room in Death Valley its full-time facility.

Additionally, a new equipment facility, athletic training facility, and strength training facility opened with all the modern conveniences of an NFL franchise's facility.

The new facility is 142,000 square feet, which adds over 50,000 square feet to previous facilities in the Jervey Athletic Center. It includes a two-floor strength training facility that is 14,000 square feet, among the largest dedicated solely for football in the nation.

"The motto for our program since I became head coach is 'All-In,'" said Head Coach Dabo Swinney. "This facility shows any Clemson football player, recruit, or supporter that our University is 'All-In' with this football program. The facility is among the best in the nation and allows our student-athletes to develop and become the best they can be."

The equipment room has been expanded to include, among other items, new offices and a new laundry room that encompasses approximately 6,000 square feet of space. The football staff offices and meeting rooms are composed of approximately 4,000 square feet of existing space and more than 18,000 square feet of new space.

The facility includes offices for the head coach, assistant coaches, and support staff along with position meeting rooms and a 150-seat auditorium with a sloped floor and theater seating.

The training room, located on the north side of the home team's locker room, is expanded to include a new hydrotherapy room, new offices, and examination rooms. The training room occupies about 6,200 square feet of space as well.

The level-three concourse has been expanded with the addition of the football offices. This space, the roof of the new football offices, is utilized for gameday marketing activities and to provide fans additional space to gather inside the stadium.

Clemson is committed to building a model sports program - one that propels our university into achieving and maintaining national athletic rankings that rival our competitors. The WestZone project is a major step forward in building a total sports program.

In order to be a consistent contender at the highest level of competition, Clemson must recruit the best student-athletes in the country - student-athletes who can compete both academically in the classroom and athletically on the field. The nation's best recruits are impressed by superior facilities, top coaches, and a strong sense of excitement along with school spirit. The student-athletes desire an environment in which they will have a positive, nurturing experience.

It is not a coincidence that the quality of Clemson's recruiting classes has improved dramatically since the WestZone project began in 2004.

Coaching is the most critical component of such an environment. An outstanding coach can sometimes transform meager resources into a good program, but the greatest success in college football comes when top-quality coaching combined with top-quality facilities allows that coach to recruit successfully on a consistent and continuing basis.

Former Clemson running back James Davis, the 2005 ACC Rookie-of-the-Year and now with the Cleveland Browns, stated that one of the biggest contributing factors in deciding on Clemson was the University's commitment to upgrading facilities. "Does Clemson want to be a championship program?" asked Davis when he was considering Clemson. "The WestZone (initiative) showed me that it does!"

Building success requires building for success. While the WestZone is located in Memorial Stadium, the completed project will provide resources for Clemson's total sports program, permitting all Tiger teams and athletes to compete with the nation's best. Moving all Clemson football operations to the WestZone has opened up space in the Jervy and McFadden buildings for the other 18 Clemson sports to improve their facilities for recruiting and have more office, training, conditioning, and sports medicine space. This will greatly enhance the overall performance, both on and off the field of competition, for all 19 of Clemson's intercollegiate sports.

A look to Clemson's athletic history shows the importance infrastructure enhancements have on the football program. The following chart summarizes the relationship.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

A significant aspect of Phase II of the WestZone project at Memorial Stadium was the construction of a new strength training facility on the first floor that is adjacent to the Clemson locker room and the Frank Howard Field playing surface.

For the first time, there is a strength training facility exclusively for the development of the Clemson football team. Director of Strength & Conditioning Joey Batson, who is in his 14th season at Clemson, makes sure that all Tiger gridders are ready to compete against the top teams in the nation. In his first 13 years in Tigertown, Clemson has played in 11 bowl games and he has coached 19 strength All-Americans on the gridiron.

It is the fourth major facilities construction since Batson joined the Tiger football program, an example of his desire to keep Clemson at the forefront of strength training.

The new facility has the best in all strength training equipment, not to mention the existence of a new sound system and nine new flat-screen televisions that give Tiger football players a pleasant atmosphere to accomplish the most strenuous work.

The strength training facility actually has two floors. The first floor has all the free-weight equipment, including a dumbbell area, and the second floor is a cardio-equipment area.

Batson has a staff of eight assistants working with the football team. Joining Batson are veteran Strength Coaches David Abernethy, Larry Greenlee, and Zac Durham. Five more assistants deal in player development year-round. Those assistants include former Tigers Bobby Hutchinson, Brian Mance, and Damonte McKenzie along with Brandon McCombs and Reed Stringer.

Joey Batson

Director of Strength & Conditioning

- 14th Season at Clemson
- Newberry '85
- Born June 22, 1961

Joey Batson is in his 25th year as a strength & conditioning coach at the collegiate level and 14th year as director of strength & conditioning at Clemson. He has served as a head strength & conditioning coach 21 of his 25 years of service.

Batson was named master strength & conditioning coach by the Collegiate Strength & Conditioning Coaches Association (CSCCA) in 2009. This honor is the highest given in the strength & conditioning coaching profession. Batson was presented with a blue MSCC jacket on May 7, 2009. He also was named the FootballScoop.com National Strength Coach-of-the-Year powered by Muscle Milk.

Batson has had a strong impact on the Clemson program since he became director in 1997. He has had much to do with the success of the football program, helping the Tigers to 11 bowl games and five top-25 final rankings. While at Clemson, he has worked for three head football coaches and has had a tremendous impact throughout the state at many notable high school programs.

An example of his respect level in the profession is demonstrated by the number of former assistants who are now assistants and/or directors at other universities, including conferences such as the ACC and SEC, along with several high-profile high school programs in the state.

Not only does Batson bring professional experience to the position at Clemson, he brings experience as a football player at the collegiate level. The Travelers Rest, SC native was a tight end at The Citadel in 1979 before transferring to Newberry, where he was a two-year letterman and team co-captain during his senior season.

Batson earned his bachelor of arts degree in physical education from Newberry in 1985 and his master's degree in education from Clemson in 1988. Prior to his collegiate career, Batson was named to the 1977 all-state football team as a defensive end in high school.

Batson is married to the former Susan Malone of Greenville, SC. The couple has two sons, Michael and Benjamin.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

The University of Maryland at College Park, the flagship of the state's higher-education system, is ranked among the best public research institutions in the world. The university takes full advantage of the unique resources of the nation's capital, attracting top students and faculty, enriching the economic, social, and cultural life of Beyond Maryland, the university is a gateway to the world. It has established hundreds of educational, research, and economic relationships internationally with people and institutions in countries such as Brazil, China, India, Israel, and the United Arab Emirates.

But the foundation of the university is its students, who are among the highest achievers in the state and nation. Three-quarters of the state's top high school graduates who stay in Maryland enroll at the university. And each year, more than 28,000 students apply for the 4,000 first-year seats at Maryland.

Driven by a comprehensive 10-year strategic plan, the university continues its momentum of achievement. In 2009, Maryland was ranked #18 among public universities by U.S. News & World Report and boasted 28 programs in its top 10. The university is again first among the top-25 public universities in graduating African-Americans according to Diverse Issues in Higher Education. And Maryland has moved up to the #8 spot in Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine's 2010 Best Values in Public Colleges.

These are some of the many reasons to Fear the Turtle!

Founded in 1856 as a private agricultural college, the University of Maryland has grown dramatically in size, mission, and stature. The beautiful 1,200-acre campus, located inside the Washington, D.C. beltway, is home to 13 colleges and schools offering more than 230 academic degrees to 25,800 undergraduates and 10,000 graduate students. These students, representing diverse ethnicities, nationalities, and disciplines, come to study with a full-time faculty of 3,000.

HOW WILL YOU

LEAD?

Sally Yon '12

Agricultural education

For Sally Yon, passion breeds success. And Yon's love of agriculture and young people has been a combination that brought her both national recognition and scholarship support. Her expertise in agriculture has taken her to the top of her field and given her opportunities to participate in industry conferences across the country.

However, Yon stepped on campus knowing the family tradition of "paying your own way" through the University. This fourth-generation Clemson legacy has worked hard to earn numerous scholarships — all to pursue her goal of teaching high school students. Clearly, Yon is a young lady who understands the benefits of generosity and, in turn, the value of giving back.

The Will to
LEAD
A CAMPAIGN FOR CLEMSON

This year, Clemson launches the Will to Lead: A Campaign for Clemson, an effort to raise more than $600 million to support Clemson students and faculty by July 2012.

Every day the lives of Clemson students are changed through the generous gifts of our alumni and friends. Our donors make a difference by providing scholarships and fellowships, and supporting programs that build in students the skills they need to develop innovative thinking for today's knowledge-based economy.

Will you be the one to make a difference? Will you lead? Make your gift or find out more at www.clemson.edu/giving.

When I say "good," you say "neighbor."

Now that's teamwork.

VICKERY HALL

VICKERY HALL

Student-Athlete Enrichment Program

Since its inception in 1991, the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs have provided student-athletes a continued commitment to excellence. Our approach is to address the total student-athlete, and we are committed to coaching our student-athletes to success in the academic, personal growth, career, and community service arenas.

As an original member of the NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills Program, we provide opportunities and services to address the changing needs and skills of student-athletes during college and after graduation. This program was selected for the FBS Athletic Director's Association "Program of Excellence" Award, a lifetime award recognizing CHAMPS/Life Skills excellence.

Clemson's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the best facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium and the beautiful WestZone, to the "New Littlejohn Coliseum," to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all of Clemson's intercollegiate varsity sports have the best in facilities for both training and competition.

The Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs are housed in Vickery Hall, located in the center of campus. The $3-million structure is as impressive aesthetically as other athletic facilities. It recently underwent $300,000 in renovations to further assist our student-athletes in the classroom. But the importance of Vickery Hall to our student-athletes is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in 1991 and was the first facility in the country constructed solely to provide academic support to student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000 square-foot building is open all day and into the evening hours to accommodate student-athletes' extended schedules.

Vickery Hall programs are dedicated to providing a holistic, educational experience by inspiring an environment of respect, integrity, and excellence. Through these services,

Vickery Hall guides and encourages each individual to reach his or her full potential as a student, athlete, and citizen.

Academic Commitment

Over 50 percent of Clemson's student-athletes were on the academic honor roll for the fall and spring semesters in 2009-10. Seven of the 15 programs had team GPAs of at least 3.0 and the overall GPA was 2.92 for the spring semester, third-highest on record. There were 114 student-athletes on the Dean's List, including 39 who posted a perfect 4.0 GPA for the semester.

The programs that posted a 3.0 GPA or better were the women's soccer (3.40), women's swimming & diving (3.28), women's track & field (3.23), men's soccer (3.16), rowing (3.13), men's tennis (3.04), and women's tennis (3.04) teams.

The number of sports programs with a 3.0 or better is a testament to the impact Vickery Hall and its staff has had on the academic performance of the Clemson program. Clemson had just five total programs with at least a 3.0 for the eight semesters prior to the facility opening in 1991. Now there are seven different programs in one semester.

The women's tennis (#11), rowing (#15), and women's track & field (#18) teams also ranked in the top 20 in the nation in their final meet or poll in addition to achieving a team GPA of 3.0 or better.

For the first time ever, all 15 programs had at least a 2.5 GPA in the same semester. The seven teams with at least a 3.0 GPA were just one short of the record of eight different programs with a 3.0 GPA in one semester.

The Clemson football team posted a 2.56 GPA for the semester and 33 of the team members had at least a 3.0 GPA. It was the third straight semester the football team had at least 30 members make the academic honor roll, the second-longest streak in the program's history (four in a row in 1999-01). The list of academic honor roll members included first-team All-American DeAndre McDaniel, starting center Dalton Freeman, who made the Dean's List, and First-Team All-ACC tight end Michael Palmer, who had a 4.0 GPA and graduated in May.

Seven members of the football team were named to the All-ACC Academic team. The Tigers had the second-most selections to the team, trailing only Duke (12). The seven selections were the most ever for the Clemson program. The ACC has selected an All-ACC Academic football team every year since 1954. The previous Tiger record was five selections in 1965, 1985, 2001, 2007, and 2008.

Members of the 2009 Tiger team who were selected included Thomas Austin, Mason Cloy, Dalton Freeman, Rashard Hall, Brandon Maye, Michael Palmer, and Dawson Zimmerman. Austin was also a third-team All-American and Palmer was a First-Team All-ACC selection.

Athletic Commitment

Clemson was one of eight schools in the nation to be selected for a bowl game, the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament, and the NCAA Baseball Tournament in 2009-10. The Tigers joined Florida State as the only schools in the nation to go to a bowl, the NCAA Basketball Tournament, and the College World Series. It was the ninth year Clemson played in a bowl game, the NCAA Basketball Tournament, and the NCAA Baseball Tournament in the same academic year.

Clemson became the first school in the ACC to capture a division title in both baseball and football in the same athletic season. The football team defeated Virginia at home on November 21 to clinch the Atlantic Division title, while baseball completed a sweep of Florida State on May 22 to earn the division championship.

The Tiger program also collected ACC Championships in women's indoor and outdoor track & field.

Clemson closed the 2009-10 academic year with a rush, as five spring sports finished with top-20 national rankings. The baseball (#4), women's tennis (#11), rowing (#15), men's golf (#16), and women's track & field (#18) squads all finished in the top 20. It was just the second time in school history that Clemson had five top-20 programs during the spring. The spring of 1992 is the only other year it has happened. Overall, Clemson had seven of its 19 programs rank in the final top 25 of their respective polls.

Running back C.J. Spiller was a first-round draft pick of the Buffalo Bills in the 2010 NFL draft. He was the #9 overall selection. In June, outfielder Kyle Parker was the #26 overall selection in the first round of the Major League baseball draft by the Colorado Rockies. Forward Trevor Booker of the men's basketball team followed suit as the #23 overall selection in the NBA draft by the Washington Wizards. Clemson and Georgia Tech were the only two schools in the nation with a first-round draft pick in all three sports in 2009-10.

The Tiger program also produced an NCAA Champion in 2010 when Patricia Mamona of the track & field team won the outdoor triple jump.

This brief NCAA rules education is aimed at outlining basic rules to help potential Clemson students-athletes, parents, and boosters better understand the regulations. Clemson University is committed to recruiting and conducting our athletic program with the highest level of integrity. If you have questions about NCAA rules, please contact Clemson's compliance services at (864) 656-1580, through our website at ClemsonTigers.com, or via email at compliance-L@clemson.edu.

Are You a Booster?

The NCAA definition of a "representative of athletics interest" generally encompasses most individuals who regularly attend Clemson sporting events (reminder - once a representative, always a representative). Specifically, a booster or "representative of athletics interests" is any individual, independent agency, corporate entity, or other organization that is presently or has ever:

- Participated in promoting the institution's athletic program (such as buying season tickets to sporting events).
- Assisted in providing benefits (such as summer employment) to enrolled student-athletes.
- Assisted or been requested by the department of athletics staff to assist in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes.
- Attended Clemson University.
- Contributed to the department of athletics or IPTAY.
- Participated in or been a member of IPTAY.
- Been otherwise involved in the Clemson University athletics program.

Ask Before You Act

Prospective student-athletes may...

- Identify outstanding potential student-athletes in your area and forward information, such as newspaper articles, to the coach of that sport at Clemson.
- Continue to establish friendships with friends and neighbors, even those with prospect-aged children. However, contact for recruiting purposes is still prohibited.
- Attend, on your own initiative, events such as games and banquets where prospective student-athletes are present as long as you do not contact the prospect(s) or their family for recruiting purposes.
- Answer a call from a prospective student-athlete (you may not initiate the call) regarding only Clemson University in general, but not about Tiger athletics. Please promptly inform compliance services or the coach should this situation arise.
- Make donations to a high school if it is located in your community, the donation is not made at the request of Clemson or Clemson coaches, and the funds are distributed through established channels and not directed towards a specific student-athlete.

CUAD Mission Statement

The Department of Athletics offers nationally prominent athletic programs. Through a dedicated commitment to educational interests, a competitive athletic program, and integrity in all areas, the student-athletes, coaches, and staff strive to bring credit and recognition to Clemson University.

The mission of the Athletic Department is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow, develop, and serve the interests of Clemson University by complementing and enhancing its diversity and quality of life.

Furthermore, the Athletic Department seeks to be a source of pride for the citizens of the State of South Carolina and to be recognized as a nationally-prominent program, through consistently high levels of performance and accomplishment in athletic competitions.

The Athletic Department strives to develop student-athletes academically and athletically with the total commitment of aiding their efforts to graduate from Clemson University and advance to careers that will enable them to be productive members of society.

The Athletic Department will act in an ethical and honest manner, dedicated to compliance with all Federal, State, NCAA, Conference, and University rules and regulations.

Current student-athletes may...

- Continue to come out and support student-athletes at Clemson athletic events.
- Provide summer employment to student-athletes, but only if you contact Clemson's office of compliance services (compliance-L@clemson.edu) first and the student-athlete is compensated for work actually performed at a rate commensurate with the going rate in the locality for similar services.

What Every Booster Should Know

- Extra Benefit - Any special arrangement by a Clemson employee, booster (IPTAY member), or alum to provide a prospective or enrolled student-athlete or their families and friends with a benefit not permitted by NCAA legislation. Examples of prohibited benefits include (but not limited to):

- Arranging employment for family and friends of the student-athlete.
- Free or reduced housing agreements.
- Gifts of money, awards, food/drinks, or other tangible items.
- Loans of money or automobiles.
- Professional services without charge or at a discount.
- Promises of employment or loans following college graduation.
- Providing transportation for the student-athlete or their friends and family.
- Use of ATM, credit, or other types of gift cards.

- Institutional Control - A central principle of the NCAA bylaws. Institutional control requires that Clemson University conducts its intercollegiate athletics program in compliance with NCAA rules and regulations. This includes booster activities.

- Prospective Student-Athlete - A student, regardless of their athletic ability, who has started classes for the ninth grade or any student enrolled at another two or four-year institution.

- Recruiting - Any solicitation of a prospect or a prospect's family by Clemson's coaches or representatives of athletic interest for the purposes of securing the prospective student-athlete's ultimate enrollment and participation in athletics at Clemson. Only designated Clemson athletics department staff members may recruit.

- Student-Athlete - A student whose enrollment was solicited by a member of the Clemson athletic department staff or other representative of athletics interest with a goal of the student's ultimate participation in Clemson's intercollegiate athletics program. Student-athletes are not just those that were recruited or receive athletic scholarships, they are also those that participate in intercollegiate athletics.

Activities That Will Harm Prospective Student-Athletes You may not...

- Contact (including phone calls, texts, and email) or interact with a prospective student-athlete or their family for the purpose of persuading them to attend Clemson.
- Contact coaches, guidance counselors, or other school administrators in order to gain information on prospective student-athletes.
- Make contact with a prospective student-athlete or the prospect's family during official or unofficial visits to Clemson.
- Provide any other extra benefits to prospective student-athlete, family, friends, or their coaches.

The IPTAY Representative program continues to be one of the most important marketing tools available for the growth of the IPTAY Scholarship Fund. This group of nearly 700 women and men throughout the country volunteer their time to encourage those in their communities and in their circle of influence to join IPTAY on an annual basis and to support Clemson in all endeavors. Despite economic challenges throughout the state and region, IPTAY had a successful 2010 campaign due to the tireless efforts of this group.

The recruitment of new donors, those who have a potential for leadership gifts, and creating a link between Clemson and its constituents is the goal of each IPTAY representative. With the continued leadership provided by the IPTAY Board of Directors and our past presidents, the REP program will continue to be successful. If you are interested in becoming an IPTAY representative, contact Jason Wilson via email at wilson@clemson.edu.

MAJOR GIFTS PROGRAM

Respecting History Embracing Change

Humble Beginnings

From the humble beginnings of playing on Bowman Field in the late 1800s and early 1900s and the building of Historic Riggs Field in 1915, Clemson has a storied past that is very much embraced today.

Under early leaders, such as Walter M. Riggs and John Heisman, the Tigers built the foundation that maintains Clemson athletics as a vital force. Fike Fieldhouse was built in 1930 and Memorial Stadium was erected in a valley in 1942. IPTAY, a model for college booster organizations across the country, was born in 1934, providing educational opportunities for student-athletes.

Women's sports were added in the mid-1970s, and with this growth came the Jervy Athletic Center in 1973. The most recent athletic facility added was the WestZone in 2009, transforming Memorial Stadium into one of the most modern facilities in the nation.

With this growth and expansion, it is interesting to note that Bowman Field, Historic Riggs Field, and Fike Fieldhouse are still in use today by varsity athletics and the student body. The Tigers are fortunate to have had outstanding early leaders who had bold and futuristic vision.

Exciting Future

As Clemson embarks on its athletics future, the philosophy of holistically developing the student-athlete continues to be at the forefront. IPTAY continues to provide the funding necessary to carry out this mission and lives up to its motto ("Championships Begin With Scholarships") by funding approximately 500 scholarships, Vickery Hall (student-athlete enrichment center), various facility projects, and the operation of IPTAY.

Doug Kingsmore Stadium

We are confident that future generations of male and female athletes will move beyond their fields of play and have a positive impact on the world, just as all of the student-athletes who have preceded them throughout the celebrated history of Clemson athletics. Our goal is to provide our student-athletes with championship-level fields, courts, classrooms, and civic and community-service education that is second-to-none in the country. If we expect the best upon graduation, we must invest in the best.

The exciting and visionary future plans include:

- Completion the WestZone Museum, Oculus, and North-west Concourse
- Renovation of Historic Riggs Field - a new gateway to the Athletic District
- Facility improvements and additions to Doug Kingsmore Stadium for our baseball program
- Expansion of the Hoke Sloan Tennis Facility
- Expanding the footprint of basketball - a master plan for Littlejohn Coliseum and the Huckabee Annex
- Funding our community-service initiatives

Please join Tiger athletics and IPTAY in supporting this important plan. Call our major gifts office at (864) 656-5208 for more details and to learn how you can help.

The Clemson Tiger Sports Network supplies fans with a full day of broadcast each football Saturday. Each broadcast day has three programs, "Tiger Tailgate Show," "Game Day Broadcast," and "Fifth Quarter Show."

A Tiger tradition since the 1970s, the "Tiger Tailgate Show" is a two-hour entertainment and interactive program. It is produced on the lawn of Littlejohn Coliseum at the corner closest to Memorial Stadium.

The program begins three hours prior to kickoff on gameday. Roy Philpott, David Stein, Dory Kidd, and Ben Milstead host the show. It is a popular gathering place. Interviews with former players, games, display items, and other exciting action are all part of the show.

The game broadcast is anchored by Pete Yanity. The sports director at WSPA-TV (Ch. 7) in Spartanburg, SC took over in 2003 after the passing of Jim Phillips, who had been the longtime Voice of the Tigers since 1968. Yanity has been a part of the broadcast team since 2001 as the host of the pregame, halftime, and postgame shows, and as the sideline reporter during games.

Yanity has been the sports director at WSPA-TV the last 20 years. He has also been a sideline analyst for 14 years on Carolina Panther preseason games and has play-by-play experience with CSS, covering various college events, including Tiger football and baseball games. Yanity is also the voice of Tiger men's basketball and host of the Dabo Swinney and Brad Brownell Television Shows.

Joining Yanity in the broadcast booth is former Tiger offensive lineman Will Merritt, who played for the Tigers from 1998-01. He was a starting offensive guard during the 2000 and 2001 seasons when he was named Second-Team All-ACC.

Merritt worked on the Clemson radio network pregame and postgame shows during the 2002 season. He also provided color commentary on the television tape-delay broadcasts of selected 2002 games. In 2003, he became the color analyst of the gameday broadcasts.

Patrick Sapp completes the broadcast team as the sideline commentator. The former Clemson quarterback and linebacker (1992-95) is in his fourth season as sideline commentator. As a player, Sapp passed for 2,278 yards in three seasons under center. During his senior campaign, he moved to linebacker, where he totaled 64 tackles and a team-high 5.5 sacks prior to being selected in the second round of the NFL draft by the San Diego Chargers. Sapp is currently a development officer for the Clemson Alumni Association.

As has been the case in the past, the gameday broadcast begins with the Dabo Swinney Pregame Show. Swinney meets with Sports Information Director Tim Bourret to provide Tiger fans with the latest lineup and strategy information. Yanity and Merritt also provide a last-minute scene-setter that includes the latest lineup and weather information.

After the game, fans can tune into the "Fifth Quarter Show," hosted by Dan Scott, or attend the show live from Wild Wing Cafe in downtown Greenville, SC. Interviews with Swinney along with Coordinators Billy Napier and Kevin Steele are also included. An added feature includes locker room interviews with Clemson's top players that day. A rundown of the game stats and audio highlights are also provided.

Fans can follow the Tigers by listening to "Tiger Calls" each Thursday evening with Swinney and Don Munson from 8:00 PM to 9:00 PM. The shows air live from several BI-LO grocery stores in the Clemson area.

The Clemson Tiger Sports Network also produces the Dabo Swinney Television Show, a recap of the previous contest's highlights. Yanity serves as the host of this program that gives Tiger fans insight into the coaches' decisions during the previous game and takes an up-close look at your favorite players.

TIGER BAND

Tiger Dancers & Tiger Twirlers

Our Tiger Twirlers and Tiger Dancers have a long tradition of being an outstanding group of young ladies who are a valuable part of Tiger Band. Today, they are in the spotlight, as we welcome our Tiger Twirler-for-a-Day and Tiger Dancer-for-a-Day participants to Death Valley.

This is our eighth-annual Tiger Twirler and Tiger Dancer-for-a-Day event and the largest ever. A total of 215 twirlers and dancers ages 5-18 will join Tiger Band on the field today during pregame for a performance.

The young recruits participated in a clinic this morning taught by the Tiger Twirlers and Tiger Dancers, enjoyed a pep rally at the outdoor amphitheater, and led the band in the pregame parade into the stadium. They will top off their exciting day by performing during pregame to "Eye of the Tiger."

This event is a recruiting tool for our program and it allows young twirlers and dancers to experience the thrill of performing during Clemson's pregame show. Today's participants have traveled from all over the country to be a part of this event. They are very excited about having the opportunity to perform for you.

Our Tiger Twirlers and Tiger Dancers are featured in each of our halftime shows this year as a part of our visual ensemble. They combine multiple batons, ribbons, fire batons, pom-poms, and amazing choreography to add to the visual appeal of each halftime.

Tiger Band is performing three shows this season, including Orange Man Group, Spirit, and Guitar Hero II. Each show offers a great variety of music that the girls enjoy performing to. Tiger Twirler Coach Hazel Cartee and Tiger Dancer Coach Marcie Cope make sure the girls have amazing choreography for each show.

The Tiger Twirlers and Tiger Dancers perform at pregame, halftime, pep rallies, parades, and any function that includes the full band. The visual appeal and talent they add to our performances are first-class. Their batons, shiny pom-poms, glamorous uniforms, and beautiful smiles can be seen from all over the stadium and are a sure sign that it is gameday. They love what they do and it shows.

Today's Halftime Show

In 2007, Tiger Band presented what turned out to be a nationally-recognized show based on the video game "Guitar Hero." Today, we present part-two of the concept, but this time around we feature a real-live guitar hero.

Senior performing arts major (audio engineering) Zach Thigpen (Spartanburg, SC) has been playing music since age 12. His guitar playing has been influenced by such acts as the Allman Brothers Band, Jimmy Herring, Led

KEVIN GALLOWAY

If there is any proof needed that hard work and dedication pays off, Clemson men's tennis player Kevin Galloway is a walking example.

Having started playing tennis at an early age and working hard in the weightroom during the offseason has definitely paid large dividends for the Charlotte, NC native.

"I got my start in tennis because my parents loved to play," he said. "My father played basketball at Appalachian State and my mom played tennis in high school. They loved playing tennis and they got me started when I was five. I started playing in tournaments at the age of eight."

Galloway attributed this early start and good coaching as the two ingredients for his success in the junior ranks and in college. "I believe that the early start, dedication, and good coaching are the reasons I'm able to play college tennis. It's great to be dedicated, but if you don't have good coaching, it doesn't do much good."

Clemson's tennis tradition had a lot to do with Galloway coming to Clemson. In fact, he shares the same hometown with one of the Tigers' greatest former players, Pender Murphy, who was recently inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame.

"I was first noticed by Coach Chuck Kriese (longtime former Clemson head coach who retired two years ago), because I was hitting with Pender Murphy. Murphy contacted Coach Kriese and he was very interested in me. It came down to Clemson or N.C. State, but I thought Coach Kriese wanted me more, so I chose Clemson."

Before Clemson, Galloway had impressive credentials. He was ranked as high as #1 in the South in the junior ranks. He graduated from Hickory Grove Baptist Christian School. Although it did not field a tennis team, he played baseball for the school and in local tennis tournaments as he worked his way to the top.

"Ever since the ninth grade, I had a coach named Mike Conroy who helped me, and I owe him a great amount of gratitude," explained Galloway. "When I go home for the holidays, he still helps me. I appreciate Coach Kriese for giving me the opportunity to play here. I also thank Coach Chuck McCuen for helping and guiding me the last three seasons. It's great playing for Coach McCuen."

Clemson made a strong impression on Galloway from the outset, especially during his official visit. "I remember my official visit at Clemson very well. I came to a men's basketball game and the atmosphere was exciting and electrifying. I fell in love with the place. I knew this was the place for me.

"The facilities are great and the coaches are wonderful. I couldn't have asked for a better situation when choosing a college. I like the team members and I was impressed with the well-known Clemson tennis legacy.

"I had a good friend in Ike Belk, who played here. He enjoyed Clemson as well. All the people and tennis team members were nice, and I was impressed with the academics and the school's reputation."

During Galloway's freshman season, he had a 19-16 record in singles and a 20-18 mark in doubles. He followed that with a 17-14 record in singles and a 7-8 mark in doubles play as a sophomore. Last season, he finished with a team-leading 23-13 record in singles and a 11-2 mark in doubles. He was also 10-4 at #3 singles and had a 19-8 record in dual matches.

Galloway has been named Academic All-ACC and to the ACC Academic Honor Roll, prestigious honors and an example that he has his priorities in line.

As for future plans, Galloway hopes to have a career in professional tennis before taking advantage of his Clemson degree.

"I hope to play tennis as long as I can and I hope to play professionally after I leave Clemson," said Galloway. "I will receive my financial management degree next December, and after tennis, I hope to be able to work in Charlotte for one of the large banks there."

McCuen is pleased that Galloway is on the squad. He enjoys coaching the young man and watching him develop into a quality citizen and student-athlete.

"Kevin has a great attitude, and this quality along with his willingness to work hard makes him an exceptional student-athlete," said McCuen. "He is very strong in the classroom and he loves to compete. His competitive spirit in both practice and in matches makes him a great player."

"We're looking good this fall as a team," added Galloway. "Everyone is playing great, and I think it's going to be an exciting year for us. I can't wait."

LAURIANNE HENRY

Every sports team has a player who, when his or her back is against the wall, performs at their best to help lead the team to victory. For Clemson women's tennis, that player is senior Laurianne Henry.

The Anderson, SC native's career record of 42-31 is not gaudy, but her penchant for clutch play is. The 2010 NCAA Tournament against Georgia was a prime example.

Clemson's top player, Josipa Bek, was locked in a battle at #1 singles and headed to a third set with eventual singles National Champion Chelsey Gullickson in a toss-up match.

Both teams were battling temperatures in the 90s and Henry cramped up early. Earlier in the season, she clinched a come-from-behind win at #4 Georgia, and it would come down to her again, as #9 Clemson fought for its NCAA Tournament life.

Henry dropped the first set to Cameron Ellis, and it looked as if the match might swing in the Bulldogs' favor. But Henry dug in and gutted out a 7-6 win in the second set (7-2 tiebreaker). She went on to a 6-2 win in the third set to win the match and send Clemson to the round of 16.

Just another day at the office for Henry, who won the clinching match in the second round of the NCAA Tournament for the third time in her three seasons.

"I have never thought about that," admitted Henry. "I've never labeled myself. When it gets to pressure, I believe I can win. I do get nervous, but that helps me pull through. That's how I've always been."

Last season alone, she recorded the deciding point against three top-20 teams, but the then-junior's win in the NCAA Tournament has stuck out above all others in her storied career.

"This year against Georgia was the most memorable because it was a third set and it was really close," she added. "Thinking about it now, it was so up in the air and it brought our whole team to nationals."

"In the past few years, it was Michigan and North Carolina. As a freshman and sophomore, I didn't really understand the situation. Now, I realize how important those matches are."

Some clutch players explain how they find a "zone" when they play and that they do not see or hear anything, but rather they focus all of their energies on winning the next point. For a player who has been in the situation many times, Henry is either oblivious to, or numb to, the gravity of the situation when the team turns to her.

"I never pay attention to other scores (of teammates' matches). I just don't think about it. I play my match. The only time I know is if all the girls are lining up next to me and cheering. I always give 100 percent. When I actually am aware, I get a little nervous, but that helps me through."

As a the only senior on the 2010-11 squad, Henry will no doubt be counted on for her leadership and clutch play this season. The Tigers are coming off a 24-6 season in which they advanced to the Sweet 16 for the fifth consecutive season and the seventh time in the last eight years. They return All-ACC selections Keri Wong and Bek, as well as the ITA Carolina Region Rookie Player-of-the-Year in Nelly Ciolkowski.

"I want to be the leader," said Henry. "I believe I have good leadership skills. I'm not very vocal, but I believe I can help emotionally by staying positive. I can help create a family atmosphere."

"I think we can get past the round of 16, because our team has so much potential this year. We are bonding so well, and I think that is important for the team. You can have the best talent, but the chemistry is key."

The battle-hardened Henry has fought injuries throughout her career. However, she has been a vital part of every big moment when it matters most. She has been able to reach new levels of personal training, and she is optimistic about the development of her game.

"I have worked out every day this summer," stated Henry. "I did give myself a bit of a mental break. Right now, I feel good and our team is very fit. I'm always trying to be more aggressive and I am trying to work on my consistency along with working my way to the net. I feel really good about my game. However, there are always things to improve, but I believe I'm in a good position."

Led by Henry, the Tigers have a fresh mindset for the new season and hope to return to the Final Four, as they did in 2004 and 2005. A fresh batch of freshmen added to the Tigers' already stout lineup should mean big things for the team this season.

"Everything is so much more intense this year and at a whole new level," explained the communication studies major. "Our goal is a National Championship, and we have player focused on that. The freshmen are all new at it and I don't know if they understand what some of that means."

It is all but certain that Henry will be there to show them.

DON KELLEY

Clemson vs. Maryland, 1970

Ever do anything perfectly?

For Don Kelley, the effort he gave 40 years ago against Maryland in 1970 may not have been perfection, but it was just about as good as it gets.

On that cold, rainy Halloween Day in College Park, MD, Clemson posted a 24-11 win due in large part to Kelley. Consider that he had four punt returns for 167 yards and a score. He had an interception return which set up another touchdown. For good measure, he also recovered a fumble.

His four punt returns for 167 yards earned Kelley the ACC record for most punt return yards in a game, a mark that still stands today.

Kelley said the Tigers had a feeling they would be able to do some good things in the punting game. Maryland's punter was the son of legendary NFL quarterback Otto Graham.

"He kicked the ball a long way, but he kicked it low and we thought we would be able to return some," said Kelley.

The day began quickly for Kelley, as he took a punt back 58 yards to the Maryland six in the first quarter.

"I actually thought I had scored," recounted Kelley. "The officials said I stepped out-of-bounds on the six."

However, the Tigers were not able to capitalize on Kelley's efforts, as a fumble on third down was recovered by the Terrapins at their own two.

Kelley had two other punt returns in the second quarter, but they only netted 24 yards. Maryland held a slim 3-0 halftime lead, with both teams struggling on offense. The third quarter was much the same, with neither team scoring, setting the stage for a wild fourth quarter.

Kelley began the fireworks when he returned a punt 85 yards for a touchdown, giving the Tigers their first lead (7-3).

"We had a wall set up to the right," said Kelley. "But after I got the punt, there was no way I could get to the wall, so I put on the brakes and went left. It was almost like all the Maryland players went to the right side and I went up the left side. I made a few guys miss and went all the way this time."

First-year Head Coach Hootie Ingram gave Kelley a breather after the punt return as Maryland took the kickoff and began their next possession. When Kelley was ready, he went right back into the game and produced more magic.

"On my first play back in the game, I intercepted a pass and ran it back to the two, where they knocked me out-of-bounds," said Kelley of his 56-yard return.

On the first play after the interception, Clemson's Dick Bukowsky scampered the final two yards to increase the Tigers' lead to 17-3.

Clemson's final touchdown came via the interception route, as Jewell McLaurin picked off a pass and went 68 yards for the final Tiger points. Clemson had tallied three fourth-quarter touchdowns with the help of two interceptions and the punt return.

The Maryland game was the caper of three impressive weeks for the Greenville, SC native. Kelley began the hot streak with a 67-yard punt return for a touchdown against Wake Forest. The next week against Duke in Death Valley, he intercepted a Leo Hart pass and returned it 102 yards (100 officially) for a score. The final part of the three-game stretch was the Maryland game at College Park.

"The touchdown against Duke was the only touchdown I scored in Death Valley," admitted Kelley. "The next year, I moved back to my normal position of wide receiver and never scored a touchdown at Clemson. I did all my scoring on the road except for that interception."

The 102-yard effort against the Blue Devils still stands as the longest interception return in school history.

As for the Maryland game, Kelley's outing is still the greatest return game in ACC and Clemson history. His 223 yards of punt and interception returns are the gold standard.

"It really is amazing that it is still the record for the ACC and Clemson on returns," stated Kelley. "When you think of all the great players who have played in this league, it is amazing that one of them has not had a better day than my game at Maryland."

Kelley finished the 1970 season sixth in the nation in punt return yardage, with an average return of 16.2 yards.

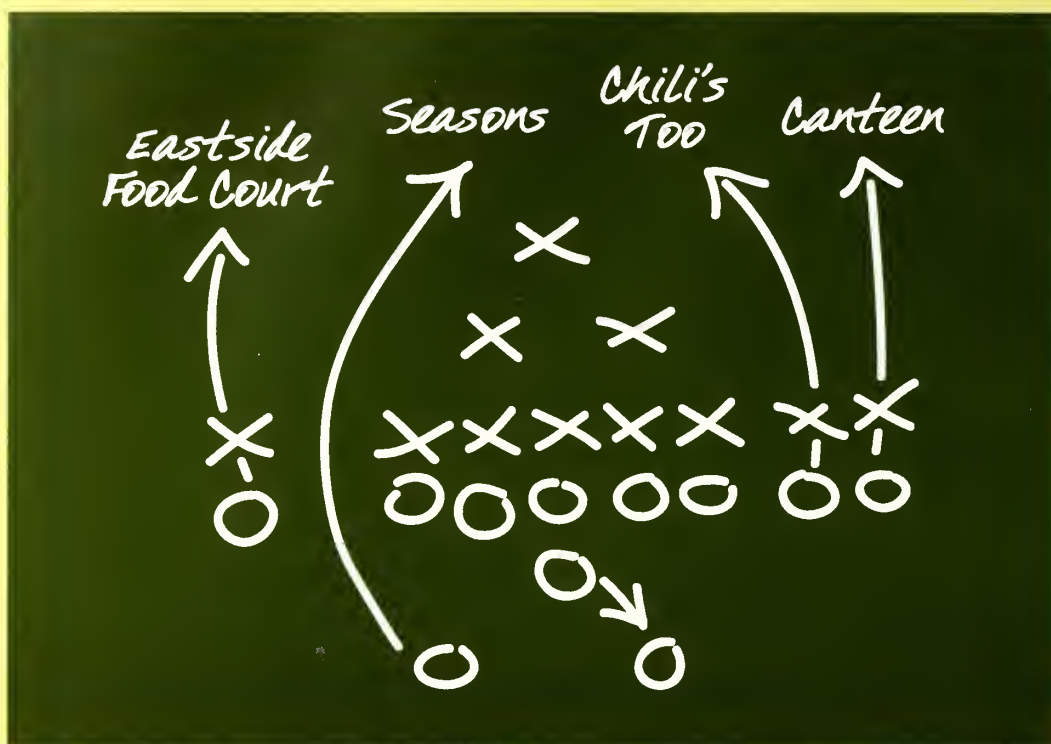

He also related a funny story about that 1970 game at Maryland. "A friend of mine is a pilot and flew into the Columbia airport a few years ago. He saw a plane there with a Maryland sticker on it, which had just landed. My friend got to talking to the pilot of that plane and discovered the guy had played football at Maryland."

"My friend told him he had a friend named Don Kelley who played football at Clemson. The Maryland pilot said 'I played football at Maryland against that guy and he went crazy against us. He was the best return man I have ever seen.'"

Kelley is now a dentist in his native Greenville. He and his wife have four children, all of whom graduated from Clemson. Two of his three son-in-laws are also Clemson graduates.

When reflecting back at the Maryland game, Kelley added one more fact that made the day his best ever. "It was Halloween and that was my Mom's birthday. That really made that game and that day a special one for me."

Tiger fans everywhere would certainly agree.

2000 CLEMSON TEAM

10-Year Anniversary

It is hard to believe it has been 10 years since the 2000 season. I am sure a lot of those former Tiger players in attendance for their 10-year reunion today feel the same way.

That was a memorable season for the program and for me, personally. The Tigers ran off eight consecutive wins to begin the season and reached a #3 national ranking in the coaches poll in late October.

It was also memorable in a sad way because my long-time boss, Bob Bradley, was in his final days fighting bone cancer. It was spiritually uplifting on the one hand, because he had such a bright outlook on life and was a true example of the Clemson spirit. His mind was as sharp as ever throughout, but there were many difficult days when he had to deal with chemotherapy treatments.

Bradley started the season needing to attend five games to reach 500 in a row. That streak drove him every day, and we all celebrated his 500th game at Duke on September 30. That streak would reach 502 when he attended the Maryland game on October 14.

Bradley certainly enjoyed his last season on Earth because this was one of the most exciting and dominant teams on both sides of the ball in Clemson history.

That was evident in the second game when Missouri came to town for a game televised to much of the country on ABC. Clemson recorded its highest point total since the 1981 National Championship season in a 62-9 rout. Missouri was attempting to revive its program under former Southern California Head Coach Larry Smith and had beaten Clemson four years earlier.

Tommy Bowden's Tigers followed that performance with a 55-7 win over Wake Forest. Woodrow Dantzler showed his capabilities as a runner and thrower the next week at Virginia when he rushed for 220 yards, then a record for an ACC quarterback.

The Tigers followed that victory with a road win at Duke by a score of 52-22. Clemson allowed Duke to score two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, much to the disappointment of the first-team defense. I remember how mad All-America linebacker Keith Adams was after that game in the locker room. However, that was a good thing to see. This team had lofty goals.

A 34-27 win over N.C. State and freshman quarterback Philip Rivers followed, as Dantzler amassed 103 rushing yards and 220 passing yards. On Homecoming, the Tigers downed the Terrapins in workmanlike fashion (35-14), as Rod Gardner had five catches for 148 yards.

The following week at North Carolina, the Tigers showed their depth. Dantzler was injured and left the game with Clemson trailing 17-0. Bowden inserted Willie Simmons at quarterback and the Tar Heels did not know how to defend him and a now pass-happy Clemson offense. Simmons threw four touchdown passes, including three to Gardner, and came away with a 38-24 victory. It was Clemson's second-largest comeback win in school history.

The win in Chapel Hill brought Clemson to an 8-0 record, a #3 ranking in the coaches poll, and a #5 ranking in the AP poll. It is Clemson's highest ranking in the last 26 years.

Georgia Tech was the opponent at Clemson on October 28, the ninth straight Saturday game for the Tigers. Clemson took a 28-24 lead with 1:52 left in the game on an 18-yard touchdown pass from Simmons (again in for an injured Dantzler) to Gardner.

But this time, Clemson's defense could not stop Yellow Jacket quarterback Gary Godsey, who drove Georgia Tech 80 yards in 11 plays. His 16-yard scoring pass to Kerry Watkins, who made a one-handed catch in the back of the endzone, with seven seconds left broke the hearts of Tiger fans and the eight-game winning streak.

If there ever was a situation where a loss beat a team twice, it was this 31-28 loss to Georgia Tech. The next week, Clemson played at #4 Florida State, a Seminole team that would go on to play for the national title.

The Seminoles won 54-7, and after the game, Bobby Bowden told his son, Tommy, "You just need to go get more players."

The younger Bowden took his words to heart and beat his father in four of their last five meetings.

Thank goodness for an open date. The Tigers had two weeks to prepare for #25 South Carolina and topped the Gamecocks in dramatic fashion (16-14). "The Catch II" took place on this day when Dantzler connected with Gardner on a 50-yard pass to set up Aaron Hunt's game-winning 25-yard field goal with three seconds left on the clock.

The victory gave the Tigers a 9-2 record and a #16 national ranking entering a Gator Bowl matchup with Michael Vick and Virginia Tech. It was billed as a matchup of the two best all-purpose quarterbacks in the nation. Both had strong individual performances, as Dantzler gained 261 yards of total offense compared to 224 for Vick, but the Hokies won the game 41-20.

The Tigers finished #14 in the coaches poll and #16 in the AP poll. It is the highest final ranking for any Tiger team in the last 20 years.

As I reflect on the season, one memory stands out. Mr. Bradley went into a coma during the fourth quarter of that Georgia Tech game, and he never had to endure that difficult loss. He would pass away two days later.

To him, the 2000 season finished with a perfect 8-0 record, a fact that brings a smile to the over 250 sports information office assistants who benefitted from his guidance for over 40 years.
